Guidelines on the Use of the Stack&Tilt® Trademark (the "Mark")

Stack&Tilt Worldwide, LLC has obtained a federal registration for the service-mark "Stack&Tilt®" for instruction services in the field of golf, as well as printed instructional, educational and teaching materials in the field of golf (the "Mark"). The trademark protects the intellectual property of Stack&Tilt Worldwide, LLC ("Stack&Tilt Worldwide") and its principals, Mike Bennett and Andy Plummer. Any terms used but not defined herein shall have the meanings ascribed to such terms in the Stack&Tilt® Authorized Instructor Trademark License Agreement. The Mark serves three purposes:

- It identifies and distinguishes the services provided by Stack&Tilt® instructors from services provided by others.
- It identifies the provider of the services as a Stack&Tilt® licensee
- It indicates the quality of the services provided.

Licensees are given permission to use the words Stack&Tilt® under the following guidelines:

1. The symbol ® must be included when using the Mark.
2. An ampersand (&) must always be used with the Mark, regardless of whether it is in a heading or text. "Stack and Tilt", or any other variation, is not the correct mark and may not be used by the Licensee.
3. Use of the Mark as "Stack&Tilt® Instructor" may only be used to refer to an instructor who has been authorized by Stack&Tilt Worldwide pursuant to a fully executed Agreement and satisfactory completion of the Authorization Training Program.
4. The Mark cannot be used to refer directly to the instructor's facility, clinic, school, etc., but rather only to the instructor (unless expressly granted permission in writing pursuant to Section 1.4 of the Agreement).
5. The Mark may not be used or included in or with Licensee's trade or business name, internet domain name, product or service name, logo, trade design, slogan, or other trademarks, other than as set forth in this Exhibit B. Licensee may not use or imitate any Stack&Tilt® slogan or tagline.
6. The name "Stack&Tilt" must be significantly separate from a Licensee's business, corporate, entity, or trade name so that it is clear that the services, products or websites are not likely to be confused with those offered by Stack&Tilt Worldwide, the Stack&Tilt® founders, Mike Bennett and Andy Plummer, or the Stack&Tilt® Academies.
7. Third parties may not use any variation, phonetic equivalent, foreign language equivalent, takeoff, or abbreviation of the Mark for any purpose, even after the termination of any license or agreement between Licensee and Stack&Tilt Worldwide for use of the Mark.
8. Stack&Tilt Worldwide Associates may in the future develop other trademarks in connection with its golf instruction services. No rights in and to other marks shall be granted unless specifically agreed to in writing by the parties.
9. When using the Mark, a disclaimer must be displayed on the cover page, title page, welcome screen, home page, stationary, advertising of a service, product and/or website as follows:
Stack&Tilt® is a registered trademark of Stack&Tilt Worldwide Associates, LLC and is used with permission.
10. When the words "Stack&Tilt" is used as an adjective before "Instructor" or "Swing" or "Swing System" it must be followed by the ® symbol.

11. The Mark must be used in plain or bold letters with the initial capitalization of the words "Stack"&"Tilt" or a full capitalization of both words. No spaces are used in between the words and the ampersand. Designs or stylized typefaces are not allowed.
12. The Mark must not be used in a plural form, possessive form, or as a verb.

The following are examples of acceptable uses:

- John Smith, an Authorized Instructor trained in the Stack&Tilt® swing system, ...
- John Smith, an instructor who has completed Authorized Training in the Stack&Tilt® golf swing system, ...

The following uses are NOT permitted:

- To advertise equipment, training aids, programs or products that are not affiliated with Stack&Tilt Worldwide Associates, LLC.
- Any use of the Mark outside of the rights expressly granted to Licensee herein or in the Agreement.

13. Any Licensee found to be improperly using the Mark or using any outdated, confusing, or unapproved Mark must correct any deficiencies in their use of the Mark upon reasonable notice in the form of an electronic written request to the email address listed by Licensee on the signature page to the Agreement to remove the Mark in question. Such Licensees will be given a set time period to comply with this request, not to exceed thirty (30) days. Refusal to correct such deficiencies may, in the sole discretion of Stack&Tilt Worldwide, result in revocation of the right to use the Mark. If, for any reason, including those relating to the Authorized Training Program set forth in Exhibit C, Licensee is deemed by Stack&Tilt Worldwide not to be a Stack&Tilt® Authorized Instructor, Licensee must immediately cease using the Mark in any media and/or marketing materials. Licensee must destroy all such materials bearing the Mark and return a certificate via certified or registered mail to Stack&Tilt Worldwide at the address set forth in the Preamble to the Agreement confirming that no such materials remain in use.

(No trademark attribution is required when using the Logo for business cards, letterhead on stationery or resume.)

2. You may not display the Dot in any manner that suggests you are an employee of Stack&Tilt Worldwide Associates, LLC, the founders of the Stack&Tilt® swing, Mike Bennett and Andy Plummer, or in a manner that suggests that "Stack&Tilt" is a part of your company name.
3. The Instructor Dot may not be used or included in or with Licensee's trade or business name, Internet domain name, product or service name, logo, trade design, slogan, or other trademarks, other than as set forth in this Exhibit B.
4. The Instructor Dot may not be translated or otherwise localized into any other language.

7. The Instructor Dot and/or Stack&Tilt® Mark may not be used as a feature or design element of any other mark, logo, slogan or tagline.
8. Except for size, which is subject to the restrictions in these guidelines, the Instructor Dot may not be altered in any manner, including proportions, colors, elements, etc., nor may the logo be animated, morphed, or otherwise distorted in perspective or dimensional appearance.
9. For a template, use only the authorized electronic artwork of the Instructor Dot.
10. Licensee may only use the Instructor Dot during the time in which Licensee's Stack&Tilt® Authorized Instructor status is current and in good standing.

11. Any use of the Instructor Dot on the Internet or interactive digital networks must link to www.stackandtilt.com or such other domains that Stack&Tilt Worldwide shall direct.

Such Licensees will be given a set time period to comply with this request, not to exceed thirty (30) days. Refusal to correct such deficiencies may, in the sole discretion of Stack&Tilt Worldwide, result in revocation of the right to use the Logo. If, for any reason, Licensee is deemed by Stack&Tilt Worldwide not to be a Stack&Tilt® Authorized Instructor, you must immediately cease using the Logo in any media and/or marketing materials.
